I will always remember my recent visit to the Delta Airlines New York Office. As soon as I took over, I could see how friendly and professional the crew was. All of my questions were thoughtfully and swiftly answered by the representatives, and the check-in process went smoothly. They took the time to confirm that my ticket's information was accurate and even made recommendations for ways to make my trip better. The individualised attention I received was the most remarkable aspect. The staff was incredibly courteous and went above and above to resolve a minor problem with my suitcase. Their ability to collaborate with several departments to swiftly and peacefully resolve the issue astounded me.
